SNOOK COUNSEL MEETS COOPER ON THURSDAY

Final Plea To Be Made Before Governor and Board of Clemency

DUE TO DIE ON FRIDAY

Executive Indicates He Will Leave Case Entirely to Commission

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26—(AP)—A [illegible] conference of Governor Cooper and E. O. Ricketts, attorney for Dr. James Howard Snook, who is to be electrocuted Friday for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, was postponed today until 2 p. m. tomorrow when the routine case will be presented to the governor and the board of clemency.

The conference which was to have come at 11:00 o'clock today was postponed at the request of Ricketts who told the governor that he desired an interview with Dr. Snook before taking the case before the board of clemency for review.

The governor was advised that the clemency board, Dr. Snook's attorneys, a representative of the attorney general's office and Franklin County Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr., will meet with him on the matter.

Loses Final Appeal

Dr. Snook lost his first appeal in the courts yesterday when the United States Supreme court rejected his application for a review. Attorney Ricketts is carrying the case to the governor and the clemency board for a review of the evidence in an effort to obtain commutation of the death sentence.

When Ricketts first asked the governor to permit a conference he told the chief executive that a stay of execution would be asked for the purpose of presenting the matter to the clemency board.

The governor has indicated he will leave the case entirely in the hands

Women Want To See Snook Die in Chair

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26—(INS)—While the clock slowly ticked away the comparatively few remaining minutes of his life, Dr. James H. Snook, who is scheduled to die in the electric chair at the Ohio State penitentiary sometime Friday, still was sleeping, or feigning slumber, when an International News Service reporter sought to interview him in "death row" at 11 o'clock this morning.

His bald head could be seen through the screen of "Death Row," and though another condemned man was up and stirring in the same cell, Dr. Snook remained motionless. His body was covered with the regulation gray prison blankets.

Penitentiary officials announced that they had been swamped with requests from women, who begged to see the swindler professor pay the supreme penalty for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, 25-year-old coed of Ohio State university.

An undercurrent of excitement and tenseness is pervading the people here. The Snook case is discussed on every hand and penitentiary officials are making arrangements to keep the crowd of people, who are expected to storm the penitentiary Friday, in check.

It was announced that only the fewest number of persons possible will be allowed in the "death chamber" during the electrocution. Only six newspapermen, representatives of three local papers and of the three news services will be allowed to witness the execution.

REPEAL OF DRY LAW URGED BY EDUCATOR

Dr. Butler Says Amendment Invasion of United States Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—(AP)—Renewing their attack upon the dry laws, opponents of prohibition today opened their next to last day of testimony before the house judiciary committee with the presentation of a statement by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, demanding outright repeal of the Eighteenth amendment on the ground that it constituted an invasion of the constitution.

Dr. Butler, long an outstanding figure in the educational and political world, was unable to appear personally and Chairman Graham of the committee had his statement incorporated in the record.

The university head urged a return to state control of liquor, contending this would not be difficult as state statutes dealing with the question again could take force.

FREED BY FIREMEN

Mother and Children Imprisoned in Room by Broken Key

WHEN Mrs. Dee Kunkler, 215 Kenmore av., this morning attempted to unlock the door of a bedroom in which she and two children were sleeping, she turned the key too hard, and it broke.

Firemen of the ladder company from the Central fire station entered the room from a window, removed the broken key, and freed Mrs. Kunkler and her children by unlocking the door with a skeleton key.

NOT GUILTY IS HANNAH'S PLEA

Hurried Into Wooster Courtroom to Block Habeas Corpus Proceedings

THREATS ARE FEARED

Hannah Held to Grand Jury Under $10,000 Bond; Attorney Mix-Up Seen

WOOSTER, Feb. 26—(AP)—Hurried into a courtroom barred to spectators, Charles Hannah today entered a plea of not guilty to stealing fourteen-year-old Melvin Horst, missing Orrville boy.

The arraignment was held to obviate the necessity of taking Hannah to Akron, where he had been summoned to appear this afternoon as the result of the filing of an application for a writ of habeas corpus asking that he be released from the Wayne county jail. Authorities were fearful that Hannah would be subjected to unfriendly demonstrations if taken to Akron because of his attempts to implicate Akron men in his long series of conflicting statements about the Horst mystery.

Hannah who has "confessed" to killing Melvin, waived preliminary hearing and Probate Judge U. S. Saunders ordered him held to the grand jury under $10,000 bond. Formal notice of this action was sent to the appellate court at Akron, making the application for a habeas corpus writ valueless. The child stealing charges were filed by authorities yesterday immediately after they received notice of the action instituted at Akron by Robert T. Mills, Cleveland attorney who said he had been retained by Hannah.

At the arraignment today, however, Arthur Day, also of Cleveland, voluntarily represented Hannah. Day announced that he had not yet accepted the case, and that if he does so, he will ask that the bond be reduced.

Hannah told Day and Prosecutor Marion Graves what he had told Attorney Mills and Mrs. Hannah denied that she had done so.

Not more than a dozen persons were in the courtroom as the hearing was closed to the public because of recent threats of violence upon Hannah.

Arraignment on similar child stealing charges of Earl Conald, named by Hannah as the man who buried Melvin, will not be held today, Graves announced.

In the future those who now receive their mail through the Owens Station office will be placed on a rural route. Two routes now pass through the village. One is No. 7 out of Marion and the other is No. 1 out of Prospect. The choice of a route through which the Owens patrons will receive their mail will be optional with them, according to Crow.

The office will be discontinued on Feb. 28.

DANCE FOR JUDGE

Brothers, 7 and 9, Show Their Mother Isn't Neglecting Them

CHICAGO, Feb. 26—(AP)—The Bitle Gaudsmith brothers, Kenneth, 9, and Adolph, 7, put on a song and dance act before Circuit Judge Lynch yesterday, and won their plea to remain with their mother. Their father, Henry Gaudsmith, an acrobat, had petitioned for their custody, saying their education was being neglected.

It was to show how well their mother had trained them that the boys put on their act. Judge Lynch encored them and refused the father's request. He suggested, however, that Mrs. Gaudsmith, formerly a professional dancer, move here from New York so that the children might be nearer their father.

SOUTH COUNTY AREA FLOODED BY HEAVY RAIN

Deluge of Near Cloudburst Size Pours on Prospect and Waldo

STREAMS RISE RAPIDLY

Families Driven to Second Floors of Homes; Hip Boots Used in Prospect

A rain storm of near cloudburst proportions lashed havoc in the southern and southwestern sections of the county late yesterday afternoon and last night.

Prospect felt the brunt of the storm as Battle creek overflowed its banks and inundated a section of the village. Five families were forced to move into the second stories of their homes as water filled the basements and covered the ground floors. These were the families of N. B. Petty and H. S. Betz. Residents of East st. reached their residences with the aid of hip boots.

The Scioto river, the usual nemesis of Prospect residents in wet weather, was comparatively well behaved yesterday although it was reported to be rising rapidly. It was Battle creek that caused the damage. The stream flows in a westerly direction through the southern section of the county and empties into the Scioto river at Prospect.

In Storm Center

Battle creek, apparently, was in the center of the storm area, thus being forced to carry a heavy rainfall along its course.

Prospect, however, wasn't without a heavy rainfall of its own. Two and one-half inches fell there yesterday, according to David Heed, river gauge tender. The Scioto river rose nearly four feet and the Marion rd. north of the village was closed due to the danger from the rapidly rising river and the overflow from Battle Creek. The road was impassable last night.

East st. apparently suffered the brunt of the Prospect flood. A number of cellars were flooded. Elm st. also enjoyed a good share of the water. The C., D. & M. Electric Co. station was surrounded. High water stopped the 10:20 o'clock electric car. The plant of the Prospect Fire Engine Co. suffered again, as did the village fire department. The East sanitarium also got a touch of the flood.

Falls Rapidly

The water started downward about midnight and by this morning had almost entirely abated. It disappeared almost as suddenly as it came. The rainfall continued to rise, it was stated

BAILIFF PAY SUIT SET FOR HEARING

J. M. Justice Action and Other Local Cases Before Appeals Court March 7

The mandamus action brought by Joseph M. Justice, common pleas court bailiff, against Earl E. Thomas, county auditor, taxed into the court of appeals for the second time when the appellate court today set March 7 as the date for hearing Justice's appeal from the verdict of Earl Carter, Wyandot county common pleas judge.

Justice brought suit against Thomas to force him to pay the bailiff's salary of $2,400 a year. Thomas refused to make the payments on the grounds that only $1,800 had been appropriated by the board of county commissioners. Judge Carter ruled in favor of Thomas, holding that the auditor was personally liable for the expenditure of funds not appropriated by the board of commissioners.

The Justice mandamus case will be heard in Lima March 7, together with seven other cases carried to the appellate court from the Marion county common pleas court.

The other cases follow:

Industrial Fire Insurance Co. against Sansotta; Marion Steam Shovel Co. against Hunter (a state industrial commission case); Peoples against the C., D. & M. Electric Co.; Haley against the city of Marion; the matter of Bert Williams; Weikel against Keller; and Lewis against Wilmes.

28 ARE JAILED

Police Leave Trail of Wrecked Speakeasies After Raid

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 26—(AP)—Twenty-eight persons in the city jail and a trail of wrecked speakeasies and gambling houses today marked the path of a police squad which last night made a series of clean-up raids in Campbell, industrial city adjacent to Youngstown.

The raids were made under John O'Shesky, acting chief of police pending the outcome of federal charges of liquor conspiracy against Chief Frank Cunningham, under indictment in U. S. court in Cleveland. The foray was ordered by Mayor Joseph B. Julius.

The raiders used axes, sledges and crowbars to batter down doors and smash furniture in a dozen places where police had been informed liquor was sold or gambling carried on.

DEATH PROBE PLAN DROPPED

Authorities Decide Self-Inflicted Wounds Killed Crawford County Boy

(Special to The Star)

BUCYRUS, Feb. 26—Although no motive can be learned for the death, authorities believe the wounds in the body of John Harper, 15, who was found dead near the H. S. Chrisman home, Marion rd., Monday night, were self-inflicted, and will not continue an investigation, it was learned today.

A rifle wound near the heart, believed at first to be a stab by a stiletto, was found to be only a scratch, believed by authorities to have been inflicted by the boy with a knife which was found lying near his head.

The boy's body was found Monday night by passing motorists. A revolver wound caused his death.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harper, south of here, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Green Camp Baptist church. Interment will be made in the Green Camp cemetery.

FLIER KILLED IN AERIAL MANEUVERS

Spectacular Accident Occurs During Bombing "Attack" on U.S.S. Lexington

ABOARD U. S. S. Tennessee, via Balboa, Canal Zone, Friday, Feb. 21—(Delayed in transmission)—Ensign W. McMullen, U. S. N. R. was instantly killed today in a spectacular aerial accident while "enemy" planes from the airplane carrier U. S. S. Saratoga made a bombing "attack" on her sister ship, the U. S. S. Lexington.

McMullen, who lived at Detroit, Mich., flew at the Cleveland air races last year as a member of the "high hats," a noted flying squadron.

From a height of 5,000 feet McMullen put his plane into a vertical dive and dropped in the direction of the forward part of the Lexington at an estimated speed of between 250 and 300 miles an hour.

At an altitude of 300 feet McMullen pulled his plane suddenly out of the dive. When his ship reached a position of about 45 degrees from the vertical, the plane suddenly disintegrated. After the wings and the tail surface of the plane broke into small bits, the fuselage did a half roll and plunged into the sea with its engine running at high speed.

Report of Grand Jury Completes Investigation of Road Program

WILMINGTON, Feb. 26—(AP)—Harry Gaskill, auditor of Clinton county, was named in 54 counts charging forgery and having an interest in county contracts in the report of the January grand jury made public today.

Fifty-two of the counts against Gaskill charged forgery in connection with the purchase of material and repair of county bridges, highways and ditches. The other two charged he had an interest in the purchase of materials for the repairs.

Three indictments against L. J. Frazier, trucking contractor, were reported. Frazier was charged with forging and uttering forged warrants in the name of Oscar Jones for highway repairs.

The report of the January grand jury was believed to complete investigation of alleged mishandling of funds in connection with Clinton county's highway construction program. Gaskill, Frazier, and County Commissioners C. C. Terrell, Frank Richardson and Dennis Stephens were named in indictments returned by the October grand jury after a six weeks investigation.

DRIVE ON RING

Gang Blamed for Poisoning and Theft of Ohio Silver Foxes

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26—(AP)—A gang believed to be responsible for the poisoning of dozens of silver foxes in northeastern Ohio and theft of their pelts with a loss estimated at $100,000 was being hunted by police here today.

Cleveland police were asked to join the investigation under way for the last month by Portage County Detective Sidney Sanford, of Ravenna. Sanford said officials of Summit, Portage, Medina and Geauga counties were attempting to solve the long series of poisonings and thefts.

Dr. John H. McGilvrey of Kent, probably the heaviest loser, said 17 of his silver foxes had been poisoned and their pelts, valued at $10,000 stolen within a month.

NINE SLEEPING IN HOUSE AS BLAST WRECKS ONE ROOM

Mrs. Sansotta Receives Slight Injury When She Investigates Crash as Missile Is Thrown Through Window; Children Unharmed; Fire Threatens

ALL WINDOWS ON LOWER FLOOR BROKEN

Explosion Occurs About 4 O'clock This Morning; Home Made "Pineapple" Constructed from Section of Iron Pipe and Bits of Metal

EXPLOSION of a bomb hurled through a window of the home of Joseph A. M. Sansotta, 390 North Greenwood st., shortly before 4 o'clock this morning, endangered the lives of nine persons and virtually demolished the downstairs of the house.

Sansotta, and his seven children escaped without injury, although Mrs. Sansotta, who narrowly missed being in the room at the time of the explosion, was slightly hurt when hit by a falling mirror. Immediately following the explosion, which sent rocking rocks, mirrors, nuts and bolts into the house and shook loose the plastering from the walls of the front room in which the bomb exploded, fire broke out in the house. This was soon extinguished by firemen from company No. 2.

The "pineapple" a home made contraption containing a heavy charge of explosives and rocks, bolts, screws and nuts, was hurled through the front window of the Sansotta home a few minutes before 4 o'clock. William Sansotta, 7, heard the window crash and told his mother he thought a "bird fell down." Mrs. Sansotta, who climbed the creaky stairs from the second floor of the house where the family was sleeping, investigated.

Sees Fuse Sizzling

Arriving at a landing a few steps above the level of the front room she saw the fuse on the bomb sputtering. She hurried back up the stairs, and had just reached the top when the terrific blast shook the house. A heavy mirror hanging at the head of the stairs, shaken from the wall, fell on her, injuring one ankle.

Sansotta, who had not heard the window crash, rushed to the first floor of the house, and saw the spot in the center of the room where the bomb was believed to have exploded, blazing. The fire was extinguished with the aid of the fire department.

Every window on the first floor of the house and two on the second floor were blown out by the explosion. Glass was thrown 20 or 30 feet into the street.

All the furniture and plastering in the one front room in which the explosion took place was demolished. A heavy brick fireplace in an adjoining room was moved off its base by the violence of the blast.

A heavy metal cap on the bomb, which remained whole, was hurled through both sides of a steel lockbox into the kitchen where it ended its force against a heavy cupboard.

A hole was blown in the floor where the bomb exploded. The bottom of the bomb did not burst, but both ends were blown from it.

The bomb consisted of a five inch length of three and a half inch pipe with caps on both ends. One of these was drilled to admit a fuse, which exploded it. Police stated that black

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26—(AP)—Police today were seeking to solve the murder of Charles S. Roy Sloman, motorman on duty with Barrow, said he was at his control box when he heard someone talking to the victim. A moment later he heard the report and the thud of the murdered conductor as he fell from the car.

MONTANA BEATEN IN STRAIGHT FALLS

KAUFFMAN PUTS UP GOOD FIGHT TO WIN BOUT IN 34 MINUTES

Blacksmith Pedigo Is Given Decision Over Bobby Roscoe in Semi

AN infuriated old bull from the realms of Hollywood was given his death stab by a young matador from the hills and dales of the Iowa farming region last night in the arena at the Steam Shovel gym when Clete Kauffman defeated Ralf Montana in straight falls in the feature bout of Bennie Criswell's mat program.

Montana may be considered the ugliest man in the movies but he is not the hardest boiled in the ring. That is just what Kauffman demonstrated to Marion fans last night.

The Bull started the match with a roar. The noise continued until the last fall was scored but apparently had no bad effects on Montana's opponent.

Kauffman put up one of the finest exhibitions of mat generalship he has ever shown on a Marion card. He was taking no chances with the rough bad man of the movies and blocked every attempt of the Bull to get rough.

Japanese toe holds caused Montana's downfall after 34 minutes of wrestling. Kauffman applied the first one in 24 minutes and Montana fought back in great pain before giving up. The same foot came in for plenty of punishment in the second fall and the match was over after nine minutes.

The famed Blacksmith Pedigo of Louisville brought a few new tricks to the Marion ring last night and won a 30-minute decision over Bobby Roscoe, of Detroit. Roscoe, a veteran of the mat, was forced to use rough tactics to offset the advantages held by the stronger and younger man.

In the preliminary Jack Berg and Bull Smith wrestled to a draw.

First Division Teams Win Senior Church League Contests

Connie Mack Doomed To Spend Rest of Life on Ball Lot; Is Nearly 68

Friends Attempting To Persuade Him To Quit Diamond Sport

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—(INS)—If the Philadelphia Athletics win another pennant this year, it isn't altogether improbable that friends of Connie Mack will attempt to persuade the man to retire from the active management of the ball club before the years rise up and surround him and make him surrender. In all probability, the attempt won't succeed. Connie Mack has lived his life on the ball field. He probably will end it there and wouldn't have it otherwise.

Three score years have passed into the beyond since this gallant old figure first saw the light of day and the inevitable 10 soon will be no more. He will be 68 before the impending season is completed, yet many a younger man has looked years older than Mack. He carries his age as he carries his head—erect and without compromise. However, the nerve strain of baseball is a young man's burden and though the years have dealt gently with Connie Mack, it is violating no confidence to say that he never will be young again.

HIS health, as a matter of fact, was the cause of grave concern to his friends after the last world series. The strain of winning his first pennant in 15 years had him almost at the breaking point when fate kindly intervened and decided that the American league race should end, to all practical purposes, by mid-August. It was well that this was so, for the world series was a drama that had everybody by the throat before it was an hour old. Mack must have died a thousand deaths as he gambled that week, first with Elmke and later with Quinn, finally to see his bold speculations pay their profits with two melodramatic rallies that won the fourth and fifth games when all seemed lost.

Then the inevitable. He collapsed under the stands on his way to the dressing room after the series and had to be assisted to a couch. The man had bottled up his emotions so long that the reaction tore him wide apart. He has been taking life easy in the meantime but another race, with all of its emotional strain, is coming and his friends, knowing what this means to him, would be more than glad to hear him call it his last. Mack is no supine philosopher who sits serene and awaits his fate. A quiet, self-contained man, his dignity merely cloaks the seething emotions that fight for utterance from within. His very repression, in fact, aggravates the effect.

TY COBB, sitting on the bench while a younger man occupied his place in right field, was in a position to see much of Mack during Ty's last year with the club. He saw Mack stiffen and grow rigid under the grip of a big moment; then relax and become apathetic, almost flaccid with the reaction. He said this happened to Mack not once but many times during a season. As a matter of fact, something of the sort has been going on for years.

I remember coming face to face with Mack at the end of a ball game that had lost him a pennant through a base runner's mistake. Eris Lord had failed to score from second with the tying run on a single because he had swung too wide around third base. Mack naturally was stunned but even the cruelty of this blow hardly seemed to account for the abrupt change in the man. I remember to this day how very old and tired and sad he look and that was almost 21 years ago.

So they are hoping he will win again this year and, having gained every honor within the gift of the game, retire to a life that is less hectic and wearing. But, of course, he won't. You can't keep an eagle out of the air.

THE standings in the Senior Sunday School league remained unchanged last night as the first division quintets played outfits from the second division. Waldo and Christian No. 1 still are tied for first place in the standings.

Waldo took things easy last night when Calvary failed to pull a full team on the floor. The contest was forfeited.

Although forced to play, the first Christian team walked over the United Brethren rough shod, winning 39 to 21. Vic Gillis scored 19 points to enrich his scoring total for the season.

Epworth gave the Presbyterians a hard battle but were beaten 27 to 21 with Rayburn doing most of the high scoring. He counted 12 points while Partridge scored seven to lead the losers.

In the other game, Trinity defeated Christian No. 2, 29 to 18. Doan and Humeston were the high point collectors of the fray.

In the Intermediate league, the following scores were chalked up: Epworth No. 1, 22, Calvary 20; Presbyterian 24, Trinity 11; Christian 66, Epworth No. 2, 12.

SCOTT EXPECTED TO LOSE BEFORE FIFTH

Fans Fail To Show Much Interest in Feature Bout on Miami Program; Preliminaries To Draw Crowd

BY ALAN GOULD

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26—(AP)—With not a great deal more to be said about the proceedings, 10 assorted big fellows of the ring will be tossed into the arena tomorrow evening in the second annual battle of the palms.

Most of those who motor out to the wooden arena on the outskirts of town expect to see the American, Jack Sharkey, flatten the British heavyweight hope, pale and gangling Phil Scott, in a main event that is billed for 15 rounds and not expected to go beyond three or four. If the show is a financial and artistic success, it probably will be in spite of the main event, which has developed insufficient interest or rivalry to promote much ballyhoo.

On the other hand, an extraordinary attractive card of five international bouts has drawn a big influx of the faithful. The semi-final joust between the 220-pound argentine, Victorio Campolo, and Rubbery John Risko, of Cleveland, has aroused keen speculation, with the South American ruling a slight favorite. Other entertainment is expected from the bouts pitting Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion, against the hard hitting Belgian, Pierre Charles, and Jimmy Maloney, the Boston veteran, against Moise Bonquillon, of France.

There are at least a half-dozen present and former contenders for heavyweight honors on the card, though the principal significance is attached to the main bout. The Sharkey-Scott match is one of the last of the long drawn out series of heavyweight eliminations, the winner of which is slated to box Max Schmeling of Germany for the world's championship at New York, in June.

The prospects today were that a crowd of between 25,000 and 35,000 will pay upwards of $200,000 to witness the show. Frank J. Bruen, general manager of Madison Square Garden, and his box office experts were optimistic that the gate would pass $300,000. This would insure a substantial profit. There was no chance whatever of a sell-out, which would mean an attendance of 52,000.

Speculation over the outcome of the main bout was centered principally upon how long it will take Sharkey to win, the odds on the American, following the completion of the long training grinds, seemed inclined to rise, instead of shorten. A 3 to 1 favorite right along, Sharkey appeared likely to enter the ring at 5 to 1, with no takers.

Bigger, stronger, faster and punching apparently harder than ever, Sharkey has looked every part of a champion in training. Scott, tall and of apprehensive mien, has alternately impressed the critics with his boxing or discouraged by his awkardness.

Scott is a slow starter and maybe an early mark for Sharkey's rushes, if the American is in the mood for one of his savage attacks.

There are precedents for such an upset as Scott would spring by beating Sharkey but mighty few of them.

PURDUE FIVE FACING TOUGH FRAY TONIGHT

Northwestern Out To Stop Pace of Undefeated Leaders of Big Nine

CHICAGO, Feb. 26—(AP)—Purdue's undefeated Big Nine basketball record tonight will be the target on Northwestern's erratic sharpshooters at Lafayette.

Jolted out of the race by three defeats in one week, after a fine start, Northwestern was out to do everything possible to place the league leaders in an embarrassing position. A defeat at the hands of Northwestern would leave Purdue in a spot where the Michigan game Monday night at Ann Arbor, would be crucial.

Michigan, which last night scored a 30 to 15 victory over Chicago, rates an even chance of tripping Purdue and gaining a tie for first place, should the Boilermakers also bow to Northwestern.

BUCKEYE TO DISCUSS ADDITION TO LEAGUE

Wittenberg May Be Invited To Reenter Competition in Association

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26—(AP)—Members of the Buckeye Intercollegiate Athletic conference, including Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio university, Miami, Denison and University of Cincinnati, meet here tonight to draw up basketball schedules for 1931 and to discuss possible additions to the conference.

There has been a vacancy in the league, formulated in 1925, ever since Wittenberg withdrew at the close of the last football season when pressed with charges of proselyting and commercializing of athletes. Some members of the conference would like a six-team league again, or even one of eight teams, although that would mean difficulty in playing a round robin schedule as these colleges do in all sports.

Wittenberg officials have said they will await an invitation before considering a return to the conference. Colleges suggested as possible members, included Muskingum, St. Xavier and Kenyon, but nothing definite is expected to result from tonight's meeting.

Warner Expects No Big Changes in Grid Code

PALO ALTO, Cal., Feb. 26—(AP)—Glenn S. Warner, Stanford university football coach, expressed his opinion today that the football rules will not be subject to any major changes when the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association meets in Absecon, N. J., March 24-25. Warner, who will attend the meeting, is not a member of the rules committee but is on the advisory committee. He said efforts would be made to recodify and simplify the rules.

KANE SUSPENDED

The suspension will be reduced by 10 days, the time imposed by the Cotton States league.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—(AP)—A [illegible] upward movement of prices took [illegible] today's stock market, with [illegible] accumulated by the sharp re[illegible] from the record [illegible] established yesterday. Scores of [illegible] were marked up one to eight [illegible] trading showed a moderate ex[illegible] in volume, due largely to a re[illegible] of activities.

Today's Review of Yesterday's Grain

CHICAGO, Feb. 26—A wave of short covering and buying swept into the wheat pit in the final hour of trading yesterday and rallied prices sensationally to a close practically unchanged from the previous day. From a higher opening, prices had again slumped sickeningly in a near-panicky renewal of liquidation and selling. Dollar wheat became a reality as the March dropped 6c to a new low of 98¾c and the May slid 6⅞c to 81.02½, July selling at $1.05 and September $1.05⅞.

New crop lows were again registered by prices of coarse grains and rye which broke in sympathy with wheat. But these grains showed decided resistance to the decline and led the principal grain in the startling late reverses. Strength in the crash situation was a feature of the corn trade.

At the close, wheat was ¼c higher to ⅜c lower. Corn closed 1½@1¾c higher, oats ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher, and rye ¼@1½c lower at the close, while Liverpool finished 1¼@1¼d lower.

Liverpool Steady

Stronger cables than expected in view of the North American decline of Monday were attributed to the steadiness of the Buenos Aires market the previous day and caused a firm tone in the early trading. Local and Winnipeg prices held above the previous close in a quiet trade until mid-session, when heavy selling again appeared.

This pressure, which uncovered stop-loss orders in volume, was ascribed to action of the farm board agents in announcing here and in other markets that they would purchase wheat loaded or billed after midnight Tuesday which did not originate from cooperative shippers.

On the sharp decline the market again attained the semi-panicky condition which has characterized the recent violent downturns. Each successive wave of selling uncovered additional stop-loss selling, which of which was described as premature liquidation of the heavy open interest in May wheat due to the abnormal world situation.

Buying Appears

Under the bid level, buying appeared and prices rallied to the privileges, where they held fairly steady with the support of active purchasers until the final hour. Strength in the coarse grains and an apparent reversal of sentiment gradually uncovered shorts, and the ensuing rally gained momentum until prices were skyrocketing at the close.

The quality of the buying power around the bid level, coupled with the facts that prices were at the lowest level for this time of year since before the world war and there had been no appreciable rally in a downturn of nearly 20c, caused the change in feeling toward the market. Closer attention was given the days news and some favorable features were apparent.

Bradstreet's figures on world available supply showed a surprising decrease of 8,080,000 bu for the week. United States exports, according to the official report, were larger in January than in December and exceeded those of January a year ago, with the crop total so far 107,000,000, or only 1,000,000 bu less than a year ago.

Dodge Corp. reports that new building and engineering contracts let in the 37 states east of the Rockies during the week from Feb. 15, through 21 amounted to $62,362,200, an increase of $2,332,200 over the previous week's total, but contrasting with a total of $49,603,800 in the corresponding period last year.

Wing of Hartnett Packs Wallop at Camp of Cubs

(By The Associated Press)

GABBY LEO HARTNETT, talkative Cub backstop, seems to have staged a comeback, and Joe McCarthy, the Bruin boss is jubilant. Somewhat doubtful over the ability of the Cub star back stop to whale the pill down to second, the honorable Joe decided to see what Hartnett had on the ball. After taking three or four throws, Joe complained about a "thin" glove. Should Hartnett be able to maintain the pace he has set so far during the training season at Avalon, Joe figures some of his team worries are over. During the world series last year the Cubs were exceptionally weak in the catching department.

Two weeks ahead of time and rarin' to go, Carl Lind, keystone sacker of the Cleveland Indians, has reported at New Orleans, Cleveland's training camp. The arrival of Eddie Morgan, outfielder, and the early reporting of battery men boosted the Tribe's optimism.

Schooling of pitchers in the art of covering first base when the first baseman is applying his efforts elsewhere has been started by Donnie Bush, new boss of the Chicago White Sox at San Antonio. The Sox hurlers spent yesterday afternoon learning to cover up at critical times.

Connie Mack will be shy a promising recruit this season. Bill Breckenridge, pitcher who worked for Connie somewhat last season, has informed the Boss of the Philadelphia Athletics at Fort Myers, Fla., that he is quitting baseball for the law.

His father, a Tulsa judge, insists that he practice law rather than baseball and Bill has agreed to abide by the wishes of his paternal parent. Despite Macks liking for left-handed hurlers, Alfred Mahon, a 20-year-old right hander, has been serving them to the batters and doing a good job.

The Boston Braves have taken to their new manager, Bill McKechnie, with great gusto, at St. Petersburg. He toiled on the mound for the first batting practice of the season yesterday and base hits rattled all over the field.

A big fellow leaned longingly over the wire fence behind which the Red Sox were having their first workout of the southern training season, at Pensacola. Then he walked in, shouting greetings to all the boys and asking for "Mistah Bob."

In less time than it takes to tell, Big Ed Morris, pride of the lowly Red Stocking mound staff, was in President Bob Quinn's office signing on the dotted line, a holdout no longer. Big Ed's surrender leaves only Catcher Johnny Heving out in the cold and he's expected to climb over that white fence any time now.

Max Carey assumed the role of Ingin in the Pirate training camp at Paso Robles today, as he gathered a group of Rookies about him and began teaching them the art of stealing bases. The Pirate coach, long famed as a base runner, demonstrated the various types of sliding, but the rookies will not be permitted to try the stunt themselves, until later.

The New York Yankee catching staff has one consolation—none of the fouls of the 1930 season will be as hard to snare as are baseballs dropped from an airplane.

All of the club's receivers, Bengough, Dickey, Hargrave, Jorgens and Rurlon, tried their hand at this interesting pastime at St. Petersburg yesterday. An airplane flew 350 feet above the camp and its passenger tossed out baseballs while the catchers took turns trying to catch them. Not one was caught.

FUND PRESENTED TO LEGION POST

Disbanded Red Cross Branch Makes Presentation at Meeting

The building fund of Bird-McGinnis post of the American Legion was increased by $140.90 last night when funds of the former South Side Community Red Cross were turned over to the post after the community organization disbanded. The money was presented to the post at a meeting last night by Mrs. W. A. DeLong and Mrs. Bert Wey, with the understanding that it was to be applied to the post building fund. The community organization voted to turn over its balance to the Legion when action was taken to disband.

Special entertainment of a varied sort was provided for Legionnaires and a number of friends at the meeting last night. Two four-round boxing matches were on the program. In the first bout Soldier Jones met Harold Williams and in the second bout Art Williams met Billy Benson. All four boxers are from the Marion Steam Shovel Co. Athletic association. They will appear on a Legion program at Mt. Gilead soon, it was stated today.

A quartet composed of N. G. Irvin, C. E. Silva, John McAndrew, and Frank Butterworth entertained with a number of selections. The quartet was accompanied by Paul Malloy. Dr. F. L. Thomas, a member of the post, addressed the meeting. His subject was "Cooperation Through Fellowship."

Lunch was served by the social committee. The program followed the regular post meeting.

NEW SOURCES OF SATISFACTION

In addition to the smarter style and greater beauty which result from refinements in Oldsmobile body lines, the interiors reveal new elements of richness and new factors of motor car luxury.

Chief among these are added roominess for rear seat passengers, longer-wearing upholsteries, and more comfortable seat cushions.

In addition, there is a new recessed, indirectly-lighted instrument panel. Steering is even more responsive than heretofore. And the windshield is tilted at an angle to eliminate headlight glare and annoying light reflections.

These improvements add much to Oldsmobile beauty, comfort, and luxury. Yet they do not radically change its characteristic appearance.

Important advancements are also present in the Oldsmobile chassis. They include improved, fully-enclosed four-wheel brakes and improved carburetion. These refinements definitely add to Oldsmobile's value without changing those time-tested fundamentals which have proved their dependability through the months and miles.

Today's Oldsmobile is better than ever—smarter than ever. Accept our cordial invitation to see this car and to drive it, in order that you may judge it by your own standards of automobile value.

BOMB BLAST PARTLY WRECKS HOUSE HERE

Joe Sansotta and Family Escape Injury in Explosion This Morning

powder, or possibly dynamite had been used in the bomb.

Several handfuls of heavy tacks and pieces of metal were taken from the house by police. All the walls and hardwood finish of two rooms were cut by the flying metal. One heavy tack had been driven perfectly into an oak door, with the head sunk nearly a quarter of an inch in the wood.

Sansotta declared this morning he believed the bomb was meant for another house. He said he had received no threatening letters or threats of any kind which would lead him to expect such an attack.

"I don't believe I have an enemy in the world who hates me enough to do a trick like that," he said.

Authorities were not inclined to believe Sansotta's theory that the bomb was meant for another house. They believe the bomb throwing to be an episode in an Italian vendetta.

Sansotta is prominent among local Italians. He runs the Banco restaurant at 659 West Center st., and also engages in insurance and real estate business at his home. The front room in which the bomb exploded was an improvised office, containing a safe and a desk. The desk was nearly demolished.

thundershowering. A cessation of the rainfall however, is expected to avert any trouble from this source.

Waldo also got a liberal rainfall. The rain started about noon and continued until nearly midnight, according to word from there this morning. The storm reached its zenith between 8 and 9 o'clock last night. Little damage was reported from there although the Delaware rd. at the southern end of the village was covered with a foot and a half of water for a time.

The Tomahawk and the Quoque runs were flooded and were reported to have risen about as high as in the 1913 flood.

The Scioto river was reported to be bankful at Green Camp this morning. Lattue was also threatened.

County Surveyor Cecil R. Learens stated this morning that the rain in the southern part of the county yesterday afternoon had washed out several culverts and had done other damage to highways in Pleasant, Richland, and Prospect townships.

The weather report for tonight and tomorrow is partly cloudy and colder. The rainfall here yesterday according to the official report, was 1.02 inches. Marion apparently missed the brunt of the storm that hit the southern section of the county.

The thermometer went to 60 degrees yesterday and dropped to 32 last night. A year ago the temperature ranged from 57 to 38 degrees.

Weather Outlook

The weather outlook for the 48 hour period beginning at 8 o'clock last night is announced in today's Associated Press report as follows:

A moderate disturbance centered over the upper Ohio Valley is causing unsettled, showery weather in most districts east of the Mississippi river. Increased pressure over the lake region and the plains states is resulting in much colder weather in those sections and the air-pressure is now increasing and the temperature falling rapidly over the upper Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys. This cold area will overspread the entire Ohio valley in the next 24 hours; hence, fair, colder weather may be expected in this vicinity tonight and on Thursday, the temperature dropping to near freezing tonight and perhaps lower Thursday or Thursday night.

EXCEPTIONS FILED TO REPORT OF RECEIVER

J. M. Hamilton Sets Up Objections in Benedict-Lehmer Garage Case

Exceptions to the report of Attorney Edward C. King as receiver for the defunct Benedict-Lehmer garage on East Center st. have been filed in common pleas court by J. M. Hamilton, owner of the building in which the garage operated and one of the creditors of the firm.

In his exceptions Hamilton claims that he has a bill of $373.33 for rent during the period in which the garage was operated by King as receiver. Hamilton states that his claim was allowed by King but was not included in the receiver's report as a preferred claim. King operated the garage from April 17 until May 18, 1929, the exceptions state.

Hamilton also sets up a number of other specific charges in his exceptions. He says that the receiver's report fails to show any collections of notes and accounts receivable, notwithstanding $100 was spent by King to have the books and accounts of the company audited. The exceptions also charge that the notes and accounts have not been appraised or disposed of for the benefit of creditors. King's report showed that the company held notes and accounts amounting to slightly more than $2,000.

Hamilton alleges that King failed to report on a number of automobiles reclaimed by the Credit Loan & Discount Co. to show whether the Benedict-Lehmer company held any equity in the machines. He also charges that King operated the garage for a month at a loss and that other delays in disposing of the assets of the partnership have caused losses to creditors. The last charge states that King failed to report on the conduct of the receivership at three-month intervals as ordered by the court.

The Benedict-Lehmer garage went into the hands of the receiver last April in a court proceeding brought in common pleas court by V. D. Benedict against C. B. Lehmer. King filed his report about a week ago.

Hamilton is represented by the law firm of Monser, Young, Monser & Wiant.

SNOOK COUNSEL TO MEET WITH COOPER

Final Plea To Be Made Before Governor and Board of Clemency

of the board and will abide by its recommendation.

Loss of the appeal to the supreme court closed the doors of the courts to Snook unless he can obtain a writ of habeas corpus on the ground of "mob violence" during his trial. This is considered unlikely, however, in view of the highest court's action.

The condemned man's attorneys, in all of their appeals, have contended that Snook had been deprived of constitutional rights because of alleged misconduct of his trial during which it was asserted the jury was influenced by outbursts from spectators. It also was contended that alleged confessions were obtained under duress.

Wife Hears News

Dr. Snook, in death row at Ohio penitentiary, was not told immediately of the latest turn in his fight for life, but prison officials said the news probably had reached him through other prisoners.

At the moment the supreme court's decision was being announced in Washington, the former Ohio State university instructor and his wife, who has visited him almost daily since he entered the penitentiary, were together in the prison annex.

They separated ignorant of the fact that virtually the last hope had been blasted.

Mrs. Snook learned of the court's action, however, when she left her husband's cell and broke into sobs, revealing emotions previously hidden behind an expressionless face.

Dr. Melvin T. Hix, father of the girl for whose murder Snook awaits death, expressed "relief" when told of the court's action.

Spends Time with Bible

Dr. Snook has spent most of his time since entering the prison in reading—principally the Bible.

Quite frequently the professor dons headphones and listens on the radio installed in death row. This receiver has headphones reaching into both cell blocks and the doctor has expressed a preference for sporting events.

Since entering the penitentiary Dr. Snook has made a noticeable gain in weight. He remains calm, talks politely and often smiles, officials said. Nervousness, displayed shortly after his first appeal was refused, has disappeared and today Snook is calm and cool.

Has Been Model Prisoner

The prisoners in death row receive the regular prison menu with the exception of pie with the noonday meal. Officials said Dr. Snook has been a model prisoner.

Guards who maintain constant vigil over the seven men held in death row said Snook sleeps well and often does not awake until late forenoon.

Mrs. Snook is a daily visitor. The former professor's mother has visited him but twice since he entered the penitentiary.

Some time ago Snook sent up word that he was lonely and that he enjoyed visits. Since that time Warden P. E. Thomas and the warden's secretary, Walter Kohberger, have visited the condemned man many times. He is willing to talk on any subject that does not border on the murder of Miss Theora Hix, university student, for which he was convicted.

A brown sweater and a checkered cap have been the regular wearing apparel for Dr. Snook in death row, he wore the articles when he entered prison and daily puts them on while walking about his cell.

Other Celimates

Arthur Maul, Akron, former cell mate of Dr. Snook walked to the death chair from the same cell and since that time three others have been added to its population.

Dr. Snook's present celimates are Lawrence Dull, Tiffin, to die June 11; James Litteral, Athens, to die April 3, and John Richardson, Akron, to die March 21.

RADNOR MAN IS LOW GUARD RAIL BIDDER

3,000 Feet of Protective Fence To Be Built in Marion County

H. W. Fox, Radnor, submitted low bid for the erection of more than 3,000 feet of guard rail along state highways in this county, when bids were received in Columbus yesterday, according to Associated Press dispatches today.

Fox's bid also included construction of guard rails along state roads in several other counties, including Delaware, Morrow and Union. His bid to erect and furnish guard rails for specified sections in the four counties was $10,247.24.

The work is a part of a road construction, maintenance and repair program of the state, which will cost a total of more than $4,500,000.

The work to be done in these four counties will include state highways No. 47, 24, 23, 95, 61, 68, U. S. No. 30 and 42.

Low bidders for other work in this section of the state were as follows:

Hancock and Hardin, including state routes 220, 223, 222, 221, 224 and 22, 112 and 227, David and Davenport, Spencerville, furnish and erect guard rail, $5,043.90.

Delaware, Morrow and Union, including state routes 61, 187 and 242; U. S. Construction Co., Upper Sandusky, surface treating, $16,873.60.

PLANS COLLECTION OF OVERDUE TAX

County Treasurer Preparing To Start on Personal Levy Delinquencies

County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton stated today that he was making plans for the collection on delinquent 1930 personal taxes. Under the new state tax law the entire personal property tax for the year becomes due and collectable when the first half, due in December, is unpaid. The tax for the entire year is subject to the 10 per cent penalty, according to Shelton.

The treasurer stated today that the tax collection for December totaled $1,030,000. This is about $31,000 above the collection for December, 1928, according to Shelton.

Delinquent taxes, either on personal property or on real estate, may be paid at the treasurer's office at any time, Shelton stated. All unpaid taxes are now subject to a 10 per cent penalty, since the treasurer's books have been closed and have been turned over to the county auditor.

Instead of using tail skids some of the newer English airplanes are equipped with third wheels, mounted like casters and shod with pneumatic tires.

$200.00 Paid For One Copper Cent

J. D. Martin of Richmond, Va., is the proud possessor of a check for $200.00 paid him for an old copper cent. The Numismatic Company, Dept. 446, Fort Worth, Texas, who purchased this penny from Mr. Martin, says there are numerous old coins, bills and stamps in circulation for which they will gladly pay big cash premiums. So that you will know the value of old coins and stamps and what to watch for in your change, the Numismatic Company will send for only 4c to any reader of this paper who writes them, a large illustrated coin folder describing some of these wanted articles and the big profits to be made. Better write them today for this large folder so you can post yourself and know just what to look for. Remember that Mr. Martin's knowing the value of his penny meant a difference of $199.99 to him. Without knowing its value that penny might still be in circulation, passing through the hands of thousands until someone like Mr. Martin, who knows old coins, recognized its value. It pays to be posted. Send 4c now for the illustrated coin folder. You have nothing to lose, everything to gain.—Adv.

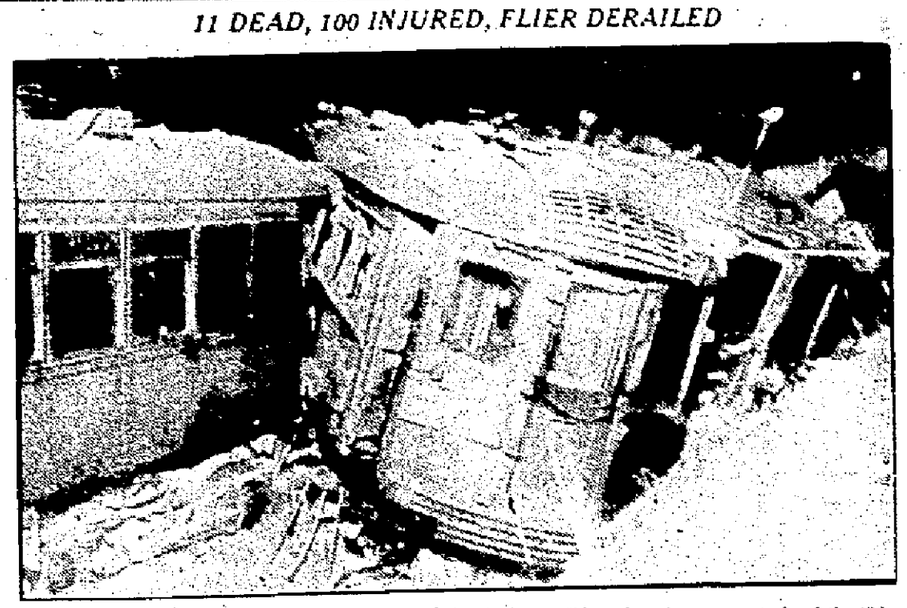
YOUTH CONVICTED

CHICAGO, Feb. 26—(AP)—William Lenhardt, 22-year-old Cleveland youth, was convicted early today of the murder of Milton Valluzzo, restaurant owner, in a holdup. Death in the electric chair was the penalty fixed by the jury, which deliberated nearly five hours.

11 DEAD, 100 INJURED, FLIER DERAILED



Eleven persons were killed and at least 100 were injured when a Chicago-bound passenger train of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Electric Railroad struck an automobile at a grade crossing just north of Kenosha, Wis. and was derailed. The automobile was hurled directly into the path of a north-bound freight train as the five cars of the passenger train left the track and piled into an eight-foot ditch. Telephoned picture shows the collision, which reaped a toll of human life and sent several to Kenosha hospitals severely injured.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

Most people call indigestion a stomach upset caused by excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The immediate remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude things. Use what your doctor would prescribe.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its introduction it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

Grange Lecturers Attend Course At University

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26—Granges of Marion, Hardin, Crawford and Wyandot counties are well represented at the school for grange lecturers being held at Ohio State university this week.

Four Hardin county grange lecturers are attending classes. They are Mrs. Raymond Mallow and Carl Krumm, of Kenton, representing Wolf Creek grange; Miss Dorothy Lotz, of Kenton, lecturer of Friendship grange, and Miss Eden S. Pickett, of Kenton, speaker for Washington grange.

Miss Hilda Merrick, of Upper Sandusky, lecturer of Champion grange in Wyandot county, and Mrs. Homer R. Crall, of New Washington, lecturer of Harmony grange in Crawford county, also are attending the school.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree so easily strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.—Adv.

Six of List Burglary Charges; Third Offense Liquor Case Slated

The special session of the Marion county grand jury which will convene Monday already has 13 cases waiting its attention. With the remainder of the week to go the number is expected to be boosted still higher.

Burglary charges lead the list of the cases to go before the jury. Six of the 13 already bound over face this charge. They are Ivan Brown, Ben Brown, Edward Upchurch, Sam Bircher, Ora E. Swain and Theodore Hecker.

James Darnell is charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Two persons are charged with issuing checks without funds. They are Marcellus Jenkins and J. C. McClellan.

Charges of automobile stealing also stand against two persons. They are George Farrell and M. E. Love.

The grand jury will consider a case in which the third offense for illegal possession of liquor is charged. This is one of the few cases of this sort ever to go before a Marion county grand jury.

Judge Scofield Sustains Gast's Hepp Case Order

Miss Josephine C. Hepp, administratrix de bonis non of the estate of her brother, Joseph M. Hepp, has lost her case in the Marion county common pleas court in which she appealed the decision of Judge Owen Gast, of the probate court, in granting a new trial to Ralph S. Geary, a former partner of her brother in an automobile agency.

Several months ago the probate court returned a judgment against Geary in a summary proceeding when it was charged by attorneys for Miss Hepp that he had concealed assets of the partnership when he served as administrator of the Hepp estate.

Several weeks ago Judge Gast granted Geary a new trial. The ruling in granting the new trial was appealed by Miss Hepp to the common pleas court. It was dismissed by Judge George R. Scofield.

Bull Montana's Shortage in Looks Is Offset by Geniality, Reporter Finds

Scores Hit with Genuine Smile in Interview at Hotel Room

BY HALLIE HOUCK
Marion Star Staff Writer

BULL MONTANA is going to Detroit, Saturday, and buy himself a Ford coupe. Sort of a "Believe It or Not," by Ripley, but it's true.

Since the day a Ford passed his big Cadillac on a smooth California road, Bull has set his heart on a Ford, and now, when he wrestles in Toledo Friday night, he's going to make the jump to Detroit and acquire a coupe of popular make.

"Bull" revealed this when interviewed at his room in Hotel Harding yesterday afternoon prior to his wrestling engagement here last night.

He's not handsome. But he has something that is more valuable than a veneer of looks—he has a genuine smile, a broad laugh, an outlook on the world that is not tinged by money and his famous name, and an appreciation for his home and wife in California.

Bull pulled a fast one on Marion recently. Any of the mat fans at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. recreation hall who thought they got their money's worth and saw everything there was to see, didn't see Bull.

Looks Crowd Over

Bull was here, came up from Columbus, to size up the degree of enthusiasm with which Marion wrestling fans greets a good match, and to be an unknown looker-on.

Of course he didn't get out in the middle of the ring and let the whole world know that he was in town, but he stayed on the outskirts of the crowd, and with the wrestlers between rounds.

Louis Montana came to the United States from his home in Italy 21 years ago, and he was 20 when he came, so figure it out for yourself. A pick and shovel were his first working tools in this country. His acting talent wasn't recognized until 11 years ago, when Doug Fairbanks saw him in a New York gymnasium and hired him to do a burglar in one of his forthcoming pictures.

It was all new to Bull and he underwent agonies trying to remove the heavy, greasy make-up of the movies, and had even given up a wrestling match that night, until Doug took him to his dressing room and showed him a box of cold cream and the wonders it will do with make-up.

Appeared With Valentino

Since that time, 11 years ago, he has worked at rather a steady succession of pictures, including a part with Rudolph Valentino in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," and a part in "Show of Shows," in which he sings a popular melody, and sings it well. Who wouldn't for $3,500? Bull plans to make talking pictures when he returns to California in two weeks, notwithstanding his broken English.

Until two years ago, this greatly advertised movie actor and wrestler, who receives reporters while he is clad in brown trousers, the top part of a pair of long-sleeved grey and white woolen union suit, and no shoes, had never been in Montana.

At Butte, his first stop on the way to visit a friend's ranch, he was greeted with "Welcome Home" signs and people plying him with questions as to whether or not the town did or did not look like the "old days." For Bull there never were any old days, for he had never been in Montana before. Butte and Missoula are the only two cities in Montana that he has ever been in, and that was two years ago.

Bull was married six months ago, and blase moderns would gain enthusiasm if they could hear him speak of his home, and his wife. Before he was married, he went home at night to feed the dog, and greet the servants. Now he has a home and some one to go to, and frankly he admitted that when there is a "little Bull," his home will be complete. He loves it, and adores his wife, except that she has learned to cook Italian spaghetti so well that now she puts too much garlic in it.

Satisfied With Ear

The famous cauliflower ear was presented to Bull about 17 years ago, when he first went into the wrestling game. Many plastic surgeons have urged him to let them re-shape it, but "it might crack and drop off," he said, in arguing against such an experience.

For the past four weeks he has been out on a wrestling tour, and he still has two weeks to go. There's no kick in the eastern part of the country, for in California are his wife, and the beautiful climate that he loves.

At one time, when he went to California to make a picture with Fairbanks, he couldn't wait to get back to his beloved New York, but now, the closer he gets to the golden west, the broader becomes his smile and the more loquacious his enthusiastic approval of the weather. And who could blame him?

Once he has returned to Europe and his home in Italy, where, he says, "I bought a six-room home for the old man and lady." Gone eight weeks, the trip cost him way into the thousands of dollars, for in Italy, he was the big noise, as he puts it. Everyone came from miles around with hard-luck stories and he was dumb enough, he admits, to hand out money like water.

Gets "Hardboiled"

"Now I'm hardboiled," he advised the reporter, and flicked the ash from a cigar as big around as a quarter. This summer he's going to Europe to show his wife the sights.

Bravo, Bull! He's the type of person that gives reporters the real lowdown, instead of a manufactured edition of his life, and he's gotten to the place where he's independent financially and can do just as he likes and thumb his nose at the world if it doesn't like his way of living.

Where did he get the name "Bull?" Here's a laugh.

A Jew by the name of Max billed him as "Bull Montana, middleweet champion wrestler," one night more than 17 years ago, in Coney Island, and that name has earned him his way to a comfortable livelihood. If only the Jew knew what a money-making name he had handed out, Bull believes Max would have tried to sell the moniker to him.

First, last and always, Bull likes America and practically everyone in it. The old country holds no fascination for him, but his home in Glendale, Cal., is a lodestone that draws him wherever he is, all the time.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

DE SOTO SIX
had to excel . . to capture such popularity

There is no royal road to success. It must be earned by outstanding achievement . . . To capture public favor so decisively, the Chrysler-built De Soto Six had to prove itself superior to its field. To sweep past so many other sixes in such an incredibly short time, it had to excel in all elements of style, luxury and performance and prove that it offered more than had ever before been offered by any Six so low in price. The public has seen the De Soto Six come up like a meteor—breaking all sales records for a first-year car. There is only one answer to a success like this—and the answer is dominant quality, dominant performance and dominant value. Everybody is invited to make comparisons.

WASHINGTON FEARS FOR NAVAL PARLEY

Sees Another Severe Blow for Meet in Collapse of Chautemps Government

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb 26—(INS)—Pessimism of deepest hue was apparent in Washington today over the state in which the London naval conference has fallen.

While administration leaders, presumably reflecting President Hoover's views, either kept silent or expressed vague hopes that some miraculous way may yet be found to get the conference back on the main track, others were more or less openly expressing the opinion that it is now obvious that the parley has failed or will fail of its chief purpose—naval reduction—and that such being the case the American delegates might as well pack up and come home.

The collapse of the Chautemps government admittedly constitutes another severe blow for the conference, not only because it necessitates further delay, but also because it spells the return of a French delegation to London strongly nationalistic in spirit and policy, and prepared to back to the hilt the Tardieu program.

So long as M. Chautemps, a leader of the left, was endeavoring to compose his government, the conference hopes were somewhat buoyed up by the prospect of a more tractable French policy. The radical Socialists in the French chamber were not so wedded to a "big navy" policy as M. Tardieu and his nationalist followers. But with the defeat of Chautemps even this hope has died.

There remains in prospect, consequently, nothing but the return of a French delegation to London more strongly committed than ever to the big program which M. Tardieu insisted upon, and which almost wrecked the parley when it was first presented several weeks ago.

You Bridge Fiends!

NEW YORK—Persons who spend most of their spare time at bridge, in the opinion of Dr. Alfred Adler, are suffering from an inferiority complex. Lecturing at Columbia university the Viennese psychologist said: "Bridge is a great invention. A little of it is relaxation. But a lot of it becomes a mental ballet, an attempt to satisfy a striving for superiority. It offers an opportunity to conquer others. If you see a bridge player who has won you will notice a nice expression of superiority on his face."

CAREY STUDENT DIES IN CROSSING CRASH

Two Companions Injured; One Taken to Findlay Hospital

(Special to The Star)

CAREY, Feb 26 — Jack Lowery 17, local high school senior, was almost instantly killed, and Edward Fox, 17, John Myers, Jr. 17, his schoolmates, sustained injuries, when the car in which they were riding was struck by a westbound A. C. & Y. passenger train, shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

Young Lowery died in the Goff ambulance before he could be removed to a hospital. Myers was removed to Mercy hospital, Findlay, where the extent of his injuries had not been fully determined this afternoon. Fox sustained cuts and bruises and is suffering from shock.

The accident occurred at the railroad crossing at the edge of town, as the boys were enroute to a sale two miles south of here. Attendance at the sale was a part of the agricultural work in the school, and the instructor, together with several others in the class had gone ahead of the boys.

The train struck the rear end of the Ford coupe, driven by Lowery, throwing him a distance of about 100 feet, near the steps of the residence of Norman Zahn. Myers was pinned beneath the wrecked car while Fox was hurled clear.

Lowery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lowery, residing south of here. Fox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Fox, also residing near here, and Myers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Myers, living west of Carey.

EIGHT SCHOOLS IN GAMES SCHEDULED

Contests To Be Held at Mt. Gilead and Cardington Gyms

MT. GILEAD, Feb. 26—Drawings for the first round of competition in the Morrow county basketball tournament were held in the office of H. O. Hanna, county superintendent yesterday afternoon. Eight schools will have teams entered. These schools are Mt. Gilead, Cardington, Iberia, Edison, Chesterville, Sparta, Johnsville and Bloomingrove.

Boys Drawings

The boys drawing resulted as follows: Mt. Gilead will play Johnsville in the first boys game of the tournament Friday afternoon in the Cardington high school gym where all the preliminary games will be played. Iberia and Edison will play the second boys' game in the afternoon.

In the evening Chesterville will play Bloomingrove and Cardington will play Sparta.

The first game in the tournament at 1 o'clock Friday will be between the Mt. Gilead and Sparta girls. The second girls' game will be Johnsville and Chesterville also in the afternoon. There will be only one girls' game Friday night; Iberia-Edison. Cardington drew the by and will not play until the semi-finals Saturday afternoon.

Games at 1 O'Clock

The afternoon sessions both in Cardington and Mt. Gilead will start promptly at 1 o'clock. Friday night at Cardington play will begin at 7 o'clock and Saturday night in Mt. Gilead play will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Doors will be open one hour before the starting time of the games.

At 7 o'clock Saturday night the foul shooting contests will be staged just before the girls' finals which are scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

Four games will be played Friday afternoon, three Friday night, four Saturday afternoon and the two finals Saturday night. All play Saturday will be in the Mt. Gilead high school gym.

Each squad is allowed 10 boys and 12 girls to form two complete teams.

Indications are that Mt. Gilead and Iberia will meet in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon. This will probably be one of the hardest games of the tournament.

Number at Local Masonic Chapter Assembly Last Night Said To Be Largest Ever at Meeting Aside from State Convention; 31 Chapters Represented in Assembly

Marion Chapter No. 62, Royal Arch Masons, was host to what is said to have been the largest number of grand lodge officers ever assembled at any chapter meeting with the exception of the state convention, when the chapter held its annual convocation and inspection and conferred the most excellent master degree in Masonic Temple last night.

A majority of the grand officers saw for the first time the most excellent master degree presented under the new ritual by a cast of 75 persons.

William H. Tateman, grand high priest, of Cincinnati, headed the group of visiting grand lodge officers. Other grand lodge officers in attendance were: Dr. William A. Belt, of Kenton, past grand high priest and also member of the committee which wrote the new ritual of the most excellent master degree; Irvin Stafford, of Cleveland, past grand high priest; Mont C. Bainbright, of Springfield, grand secretary and past grand high priest; Frank K. Hall, of Shelby, grand royal arch captain; Paul G. Lutz, of Lakewood, grand master of the third veil; Burleigh E. Cartmell, of Delaware, grand master of the second veil.

Two hundred and fifty persons representing 31 chapters of three states, and including officers of all but three chapters in this Masonic district, attended the meeting. A banquet at 6 o'clock was followed by the presentation of the most excellent master degree. Speeches were given by all grand lodge officers.

James A. Knapp, for 39 years secretary of the local chapter, was honored when W. H. Tateman, grand high priest, declared his records to be the best kept and neatest in the state.

The cast of the most excellent master degree accepted an invitation to present that degree in Kenton in March.

Experiences in Core Oven Room at Schill Brothers Foundry Causes Fire

CRESTLINE, Feb 26—(INS)—More than 100 men had today been thrown out of employment by a fire which completely destroyed the foundry of the Schill Brothers stove and furnace plant here last night. The fire was caused by a terrific explosion in the core oven room.

Damage was estimated at approximately $500,000. Nine employes were in the plant when the explosion occurred, but all escaped injury.

The business district of Crestline was endangered by the fire for a time and fire apparatus from Galion, Bucyrus and Shelby was called to stem the flames, which were partly checked by the heavy rain.

Included in the equipment which was destroyed, was a great quantity of patterns which were valued at $750,000.

You are paying for a Packard —why not own one?

The first cost of an automobile does not determine ownership costs.

A car which sells for half as much as a Packard Standard Eight does not get half rates on gasoline, oil and tires. Nor on license, insurance, garaging and repairs.

If the car is similar in size to the Packard it costs at least as much to operate and maintain it. No advantage here, for a lower-priced car.

There is no advantage for the half-price car on first cost, either—provided the Packard is kept twice as long. For here is where depreciation must be figured in.

Simple arithmetic proves that depreciation on a Packard is no greater than on a half-price car when the Packard's useful life is twice that of the lesser vehicle.

And Packard cars are kept far longer. Comparison with lower-priced cars traded in on Packards proves it. Owners know that their Packards are built for long life, and that their characteristic beauty is not depreciated by frequent and needless changes in design.

It is literally true, therefore, that if you are driving a car of comparable size to a Packard Standard Eight you are undoubtedly paying Packard ownership costs.

Isn't it logical, then, to ask—"Why not have the Packard?"

The price of the most popular model of the Packard Standard Eight—the 5-passenger Sedan—is but $2485 at the factory. Ten other body styles are available on the 127½ and 134½-inch wheelbases at from $2425 to $2885.

Let us appraise your present car, and tell you about the convenient Packard Payment Plan. A telephone call will bring our representative to your door.

There isn't any occasion for surprise over the result of a vote conducted by a woman's magazine which showed 39,138 favoring skirts below the knees, 22,533 for skirts at the knee, and 4,796 for skirts above. The United States is in an enough more pleasing situation, in the face of the soviet confiscation of church properties, than it would have been had the Hon. William E. Borah persuaded the government to recognize his friends over in Russia. We are not forced to blush as are some of the governments which entered into diplomatic relations with Moscow.

Sad Outcome of Accident.

There are few deaths the result of accidents which are not attended by sadness, but that of Martin Van Buren Whittaker was doubly sad, made so because of the sacrificing of the life of one who was employed for the protection of human life and who, in the pursuit of his employment, was endeavoring to safeguard life at the time of sustaining the injuries which are supposed to have caused his death, and sad also because of the anguish, if nothing more, which the driver of the machine which figured in the accident must suffer.

The circumstances leading up to the accident at the State street crossing of the Big Four railroad, last Saturday evening, differed from many other taking of chances in this vicinity only in its fatal result. The driver of the machine differed from many others, who have attempted to beat the train to the crossing and escaped death, only in that death resulted to another.

That there have not been more fatal results from chance-taking, not only at railroad crossings, but also at street intersections, is largely a matter of good fortune. Many are crashing the red lights, many angle across intersections in making left turns and hundreds are making right and left turns at speeds dangerous to foot traffic.

The sad outcome of last Saturday evening's accident should be taken by all motorists as a lesson. It should bring home to all drivers that good fortune—luck—can not forever attend those who place too great reliance upon it. Sooner or later it is bound to turn.

$60,000,000 for Highway Purposes.

"Back in 1901, the state of Ohio spent $10,000 on good roads for the entire year. In 1929, the state is spending approximately $15,000 every working hour of every working day of the year for the same purpose."

Such is the introduction to a piece of press copy, sent out by the Ohio Good Roads federation from Columbus, which goes on to quote Robert N. Wald, state director of highways, as saying: "Every cent of the $55,000,000 that will be spent this year to make Ohio highways more serviceable has been authorized by the elected representatives of the people. A strong public demand and sentiment is back of every dollar."

The article then states that "Wald doesn't have to worry where the money is coming from to finance the vast road improvement and repair program that is scheduled for 1930. That will be provided through the tax on gasoline, which will produce some $35,000,000; auto license fees, another $12,000,000; the federal government's contribution of $3,000,000; the railroads for grade crossing elimination, $2,000,000, and so-called 'county aid,' $3,000,000."

The copy goes on to say that "not all these vast sums, however, can be spent on state highway systems. Several millions will be given back to counties, townships and municipalities for local road construction and maintenance." It then proceeds to tell of the highway director's worry to expend the money wisely; explains that he plans to expend $22,000,000 on new construction and $12,000,000 on additions, betterments and maintenance, exclusive of the amounts handed over to counties, townships and municipalities, and closes with a short sketch of the director's career in highway work from his graduation from the Ohio State university in 1901 up to the present, all but the first four years of the interim being in state employment.

Adding the various sums received for highway purposes from the sources set out, it will be found that they total $55,000,000, which is an awful lot of money to take from the people of Ohio for that purpose in one year. But the sum is even greater than that. It may be noted that the federal government's "contribution" is $3,000,000. "Contribution" is a joke. For every dollar the state of Ohio gets from the government for highway purposes, it pays the government three. The explanation is that rich and populous states such as our own are expected to pay for the highways of poorer and less populous states, such states as Senator Grundy, of Pennsylvania, termed the "backward" states, just as the rich counties of Ohio contribute very largely to highway work in the poorer counties of the state. As a matter of fact, a sum in excess of $60,000,000 is collected yearly from the people of Ohio for the construction, maintenance and repair of highways and the overhead expense, exclusive of the cost of construction, maintenance and repair of streets and avenues in population centers.

Is not the state of Ohio going rather deeply into the highway business?

The article sent out to the various papers of the state carries a note to editors that it is supplied without cost to them, and a return card accompanies it that it may be ordered in plate form to save composition. We assume that the plates are also supplied without expense by the Ohio Good Roads federation. Considering the fact that a sum in excess of $60,000,000 is to be taken from Ohioans this year for highway purposes, we take it that the federation can well afford to stand this cost.

Martin Jensen, holder of the world record for solo endurance flying, a day or two ago flew upside down and backward over Roosevelt field, New York, for a mile. A Tribute to Merit.

Frank D. Glosser may take his reelection as president of the Harding Area Council of Boy Scouts as more than a perfunctory continuation of one in office. It was far more than that. It was a recognition of the splendid service which has been performed by him, as a recognition of the fact that he is ideally equipped for the place.

To succeed as he has succeeded as a Boy Scout executive; to gain the respect, admiration and esteem which he has attained among the Boy Scouts of the area, one must have just such an equitable temperament as he possesses; he must know boys, he must like boys, he must feel for boys and feel with them.

The original selection of Mr Glosser as president of the area council has been demonstrated by time to have been a happy one. His retention in the place makes easy the prediction that there will be a continuation of the benefits which have resulted from the very fortunate selection which placed him at the head of the Harding council.

A three-year-old Canton boy fell out of a second-story window on to a cement sidewalk, and the only injury he suffered was a slight abrasion of one of his elbows. The same day, a five-year-old boy of Peoria, Illinois, fell out of bed and fractured his skull on a chair, dying a few hours later. This life we lead is full of such incongruities.

Showing three bullet holes, the body of the reputed leader of bootleggers operating in Gary, Indiana, was found under the floor of a barn about fifteen miles from that place. What does it profit a man to live high for a few months only to be dead for all eternity?

A United States department of justice agent is investigating charges that convicted bootleggers in the Richland county jail have been going to speakeasies, bowling alleys and road-houses in the company of an accommodating deputy who didn't begrudge them a little occasional liberty and the enjoyment of a good time. What a lot of people will fail to understand is why the deputy had to chase along. Isn't that a departure from the usual Ohio jail practice with 'trusties?'

GERMANY: "EXCUSE ME FOR LAUGHIN', GENTS."

Fight Diphtheria—Now!

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Most of us can remember here, only a few years ago, thousands of tiny tots were attacked by the dread disease, diphtheria. It was tragic to see these little children succumb to this terrible malady. Parents and doctors had to stand by helplessly, unable to cope with the situation.

Within twenty-five years there has come a great change. After much study and experiment, diphtheria antitoxin was found to be a success in the control of this disease. In New York City, during this period of time, the deaths have been reduced by eighty per cent, and the number of cases has been decreased by thirty per cent, by the preventive methods which have been developed.

Within the last two years forty-eight special preventive clinics have been provided in the city by the health department. Competent child specialists are in attendance and treatments are given without charge.

It now has been found that toxin antitoxin is a real preventive of this disease. Dr. William H. Park, director of the bureau of laboratories of the New York City health department, worked for years on this problem. He should have the gratitude of every man, woman and child for the great work he has done in his research with the development of a real protection against diphtheria. Diphtheria is not now necessary.

To those parents of young children who have not received this simple protective treatment I would say that just as you prize the lives of your children you should not neglect seeing your local health authorities, or your own doctor, and have this treatment given your child.

We must go forward in our winning fight against this disease.

It is the little helpless tots from six to seven months old to children of ten years of age who are most susceptible to this very contagious disease. It is said that about one-third of the children of New York City have not had this treatment and, of course, tens of thousands elsewhere.

The cooperation of every parent is needed to help wipe out this dread disease. We must carry on a crusade against ignorance and fear in handling this situation.

There is nothing to fear in this simple treatment. There is everything to fear in the disease itself. In this treatment there are no apparent after effects. If there is a temporary reaction it is slight and lasts only for a day or two. In young children there is no after effect or a very slight one in some cases. In older children there may be a slight redness at the spot where the injection is made, and maybe a little fever, but this soon passes.

For several years what is known as the "Schick Test" has been used and doctors have been able to locate the children, and grown-ups too, who are susceptible to diphtheria and who are likely to take the disease.

So we see what wonderful strides have been made for the protection of these little ones and of adults, too, who may be exposed to this dread disease. No parent should hesitate a moment to make the children immune from it. You should see your local health authorities, or your doctor, about this matter if you have a child who has not been made immune from diphtheria through the toxin-antitoxin treatment. Do it before it is too late.

Editorial Opinion.

WORLD REACTION AGAINST BOLSHEVISM

Senator Borah's unofficial inquiry regarding the fate of the fourteen Jewish rabbis reported to be held under arrest by the soviet government, with the objected reply that all but three of them have been released, is but a sidelight upon a situation of the most profound significance. Virtually the united religious bodies of the world outside of Russia are protesting against the atrocious conduct of the soviet government at Moscow, against the persecution of religious leaders in that country and the prohibition of religious meetings and ceremonies. Since history began there has been no such expression of universal condemnation.

Were it not so tragic the posture of the Moscow government in this matter would be ludicrous. There is a total inability at the Russian capital to understand the motives of the churchmen and religious leaders of other countries in their present endeavor to arouse world opinion hostile to the bolshevik program of repression. The commissars at Moscow believe, or profess to believe, that this movement is simply another manifestation of "capitalism." It is, they say, proof of a purpose on the part of the other nations to engage in physical hostile operations. It is the war cry, they now declare in their proclamations and bulletins, of European and American challenge to bolshevism.

There has never been the least disposition, in this country certainly, to intervene in Russian affairs. Much as the soviet regime has been despised as hateful and subversive of all liberty, and contrary to modern spirit, the feeling here has been that all that America could do or should do is to withhold recognition of the government at Moscow, even though other powers have recognized it. American trade with Russia has not been interrupted by any American initiative, though it has been deplored by public opinion.

Now is presented the somewhat contradictory spectacle in Europe of great religious bodies, numbering in their adherents and followers and worshipers many millions of people, denouncing Russian sovietism, while the governments of those countries maintain official, formal, diplomatic relations, entertaining at their respective capitals the representatives of the Moscow commissars.

This may be the severest test of bolshevism. There will be no compromise on the part of the churches of America and Europe. There will be no slackening of the campaign to arouse world opinion against the iniquity of the anti-religious policies and practices of the Moscow government. Governments may be affected in their policies regarding Russian recognition. A boycott may result, but there will be no physical war, though a moral warfare may be more effective.—Washington Star.

THE CHAMPION JOY-KILLER.

Representative Hudson, of Michigan, has set about to corner the joy-killer laurels. However, he bids fair to defeat his own purpose by piling too heavy a load, an error assiduously avoided by the canny reformer.

Hudson has introduced a bill in congress to "regulate" the movies. His idea of regulation is to put them entirely out of business, although his proposed legislation does not use any such verbiage. Instead, it sets up a list of prohibitions which, if enforced, would leave little to the motion picture producers except a few stray shots of lambs gamboling on the green and Sunday-school picnics.

It would require more space than we believe the subject merits to detail Hudson's bill in these columns. Suffice to say that, from the viewpoint of the general public, it is as perfect a piece of reform legislation as ever was drawn up. It is so utterly ridiculous that its prompt demise may reasonably be expected.—Columbus Dispatch.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 26—In the late afternoon on Fifth avenue and in the Grand Central zone the whirr of pigeon wings often rises above the hum of the converging traffic. The two big nesting places are in the eaves of the public library and around the spires of St. Patrick's.

Just before dusk, when traffic desolation is complete, they circle and spiral in drifting swoops to the street where they flutter, coo and strut in pigeon-toed dignity. At such times there are perhaps a half hundred regular bird feeders who distribute crumbs from the curbs.

One long-bearded patriarch frequents Bryant park and is known as "the pigeon man." He sits on a bench at eventide with his poke of stale bread and at times is almost covered with pigeons, and when departing they follow him until he is lost in traffic.

Most people believe the flocks of mid-town pigeons, like Topsy, "just growed." But the truth is they came originally from the pigeon farms that dot the roofs of tenements on Second and Third avenues. There are more than 300 of these farms.

Such farms have netted roofs, but pigeons escape from time to time, become strays and join Fifth Avenue flocks. One of the interesting sights of the East Side on Sundays is the crowd that goes marketing for pigeons, some to be eaten and some to be domesticated. Pigeon pie is an East Side favorite.

When the Waldorf was torn down 10,000 pigeons were made homeless. George Boldt, the original owner, believed pigeons were lucky, and not only provided nesting places and roosts for them, but ordered they be well fed.

Another popular landing place for pigeons is the aristocratic esplanade of the Plaza fountain. Here the guests from fashionable hotels bring food morning and evening. While there are other pigeon sections, the largest is between Fifty-Ninth street and Twenty-Third.

Houdini's most famous illusion was known as "the needle trick." It baffled audiences all over the globe. The magician to all appearances swallowed a pack of needles one by one and then a long piece of thread. His mouth and throat could be examined under heavy lights. He would then swallow a big drink of water and pull out the thread with all the needles completely threaded. The secret has been exposed and is being sold in souvenir shops for fifty cents. It is so simple a ten-year-old boy may master it in a short while.

Thousands of hurdy-gurdies that once ground out vagrant tunes on New York streets have shrunk to a handful in the past few years. Many reasons are advanced for the evanishment. The radio is chiefly blamed. But the man who farmed out the instruments to the majority of strolling pianists says the sole cause is the increasing traffic thunder that dins the music. Hurdy-gurdies gathered their biggest rewards in the skyscraper areas of congested business districts. Today they are rarely heard above the first floor.

Tycho Brahe.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Tycho Brahe has been aptly termed among astronomers." He dwelt on an island, in a position of splendid isolation, with a corps of assistants like a retinue to obey his scientific commands. He needed a particular sort of apparatus, invented it, and had it constructed by assistants under his direction. For six months, the great Kepler was associated with him, and he has left on record the statement that "the restoration of astronomy by the phoenix of astronomers, Tycho, was first conceived and determined on in the year 1576."

Tycho wrote a number of books, and these he had printed upon his own printing press. Although he took much interest in alchemy, astrology and the casting of horoscopes, all of which he was adept, he really laid the foundations of modern astronomy by making the most accurate observations which the instruments of the time afforded, and employing the results as the basis of genuine scientific research.

Tycho Brahe was born of a noble family at Knudstrup, in a province of Denmark, on December 14, 1546. He was reared by his uncle, who intended to devote him to a political career. But Tycho became fascinated by an eclipse of the sun, when he was only fourteen years of age—being astonished by the fact that mathematical knowledge could predict the precise moment of the eclipse. Under many difficulties, the lad studied the skies, the planets and the constellations, and in two years had, it has been said, "arrived at far-reaching conclusions which were sufficient to revolutionize the science." He received a superb education, studying at the Universities of Copenhagen, Leipzig, Wittenburg and Rostock.

After the death of his father in 1571, Tycho settled near Helsingborg, and for a time devoted himself to alchemy. On November 11, 1572, he observed an excessively brilliant star in the constellation, Cassiopea. The discovery was regarded by Tycho and his contemporaries as one of capital importance, and had the effect of finally orienting Tycho in his astronomical career, from which thenceforth he never deviated. He published a book about this brilliant new star, under the title "De Nova Stella." From the variations in its brightness, Tycho predicted extraordinary consequences: "Wars, seditions, cruelty and death of princes and destruction of cities, together with dryness and fiery meteors in the air, pestilence and venomous snakes." All this was only nonsense, a phase of the astrological mania for prophesying dire happenings in a disturbed and troubled world. But this bright star had another mission. For as Kepler truly said: "If that star did nothing else, at least it announced and produced a great astronomer."

The observations which Tycho made on the brilliant comet in 1577 were important, especially in view of his surmise that its orbit might be oval—thus foreshadowing one of Kepler's great discoveries. He was not willing to accept the Ptolemaic theory, detecting certain unavoidable weaknesses in it.

According to the theory which he desired, "the earth is the center of the universe, as the center of the orbits on the moon and the sun, as well as of the sphere of the fixed stars, which latter revolves round it in twenty-four hours, carrying all the planets with it. The sun is the center of the orbits of the five planets, of which Mercury and Venus move in orbits whose radii are smaller than that of the solar orbit, while the orbits of Mars, Jupiter and Saturn encircle the earth." From a mathematical standpoint this was really identical with the system of Copernicus, which Tycho obstinately refused to accept!

Tycho Brahe will always be remembered as a remarkable handler and inventor of instruments of observation, and a superb observer. "As a practical astronomer," says Brewster, "Tycho has not been surpassed by any observer of ancient or modern times."

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The Russian government is considering the adoption of standardized clothes, shoes, houses, furniture, beds, and even food for the masses of the people. It is figured that with such a system all would be reduced to a common level. Man could have no cause for complaint because his neighbor lived in a better house or wore better clothes than himself. It sounds like the reasoning of a defective mind—a mind without understanding of the pull and power and inspiration of ambition. Human progress has come by individual ambition and individual effort. Competition is one of the most stimulating of all forces that have contributed to the rise of mankind. Reduce men to a level, or even raise them to a level, so long as it is mere a level, and you destroy the mind and soul. If Russia expects ever to be a power among the nations she will destroy whatever opportunity she may have by such child's play.

The mayor of an Ohio town—Washington Court House—decrees that people shall not stop in the middle of the sidewalk and gossip. He would keep gossipers from halting in the path of business-bent pedestrians. Says the Ohio State Journal: "Every once in while an exceptionally brave man is discovered in this world. Galileo risked his life by announcing that the sun does not revolve around the earth; the revolutionary fathers risked ignominy and death by rebelling against England; Lindbergh risked everything on two sandwiches and an airplane. . . We will follow with interest this man's campaign."

Nobody will take the mayor very seriously, but no effort at a great evil is aimed in vain. The gossiper is frequently an assassin. He poisons reputation and character. The mayor deserves credit for his decree.

Twenty years ago the income of the people of the United States totaled $26,600,000,000. Today it is estimated at $95,000,000,000, between three and four times as great. Says a New York bank report: "Such a rise in individual and aggregate income is without parallel in economic history. Yet most authorities agree that the general up-trend will continue. This is because the gains are felt to be soundly based upon natural resources of the country and the energy and industry of the people."

With the amazing wealth and resources, the tremendous productiveness of the United States, can it be possible that we shall not develop the brain power to meet the needs of our people? Shall there be honest, willing men near the starvation line because they can not have work? We are called upon for brains—for brains to make an economic adjustment which shall do away with unemployment.

It is sometimes carelessly said that modern machinery, resulting in mass production with less human labor, has resulted in poverty. This is the conclusion of superficial thinking.

"Surely," says Professor Scott, Yale teacher and engineer, "the ability which has produced the machine civilization of the western world is capable of realizing its unlimited opportunities. For the first time in history our machine production creates an abundance which makes it possible to eliminate poverty."

Popular Tunes from 'The Love Parade' Selected for Columbia Net Program

Chevalier's Songs To Be Presented by John Barclay

BON ALLEY and Helen Nugent, two singers new to Philco listeners, will join an augmented ensemble which will bring the music of "The Love Parade," one of the most talked talking pictures of the year, before the microphone during the Philco hour to be heard over the Columbia network at 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

John Barclay, nationally-known baritone, will sing the numbers originally presented in the picture by Maurice Chevalier, Paramount's Parisian star. Barclay's voice is familiar to the Philco Hour fans; he was heard last in the radio premiere of "The Plumber's Opera," presented by the hour several weeks ago. His first number will be the tuneful, "Oh, Please Stay the Same!"

Lois Bennett, featured soloist on the hour, will be heard in the soprano solos of the picture. Her charming voice will blend with that of Barclay in the melodious theme number, "My Love Parade," which is considered the outstanding musical composition of the production.

The musical numbers will be bound together by a running resume of the plot of the picture by M. Neely, Philco's "Old Stager". An added feature of the program will be the Columbia Grenadiers, popular male quartet, who will sing "Nobody's Using It Now."

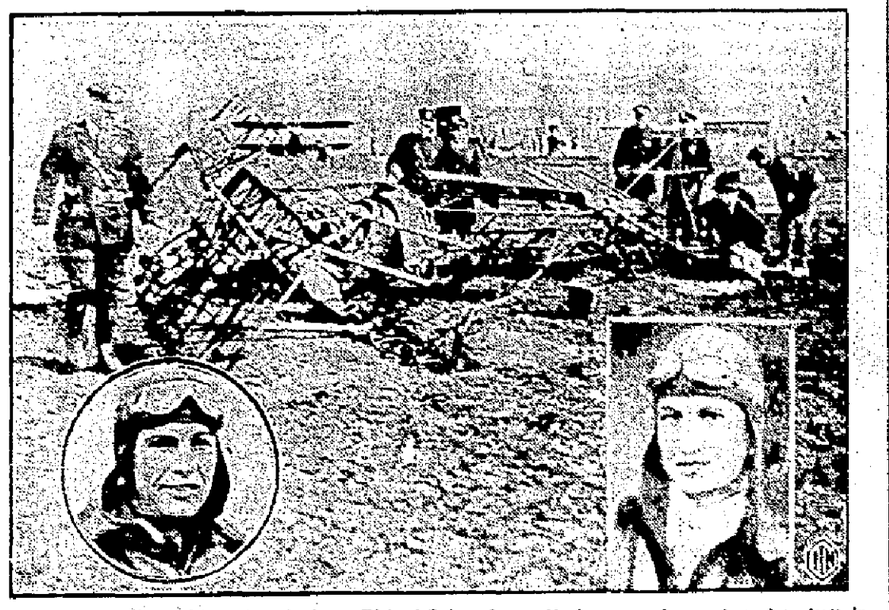
FORMER MARION MAN KILLED



In the right inset picture above is shown Richard Spicer, former Marion man, who was burned to death in Chicago last Friday afternoon when the airplane in which he was riding as a student pilot crashed to the earth and burst into flames. In the left inset is Capt. Joseph Donnellan, former Canadian war flier, who also died in the crash. He was Spicer's instructor. Only the metal frame-work of the plane remained after the fire which took the lives of the two men burned itself out. Spicer had recently adopted the name of King, that being the name of relatives with whom he had been living.

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair
If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.
It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

Why Fat
WHEN SO MANY FIND IT EASY TO REDUCE
All can see everywhere that countless people have found the right way to fight fat. Slender figures now prevail. Excess fat has largely disappeared. Mark the people you know who in late years have gained new youth and beauty, new health and vigor, by combating fat.
One great reason lies in the discovery that most fat people have an under-active gland. Its failure to control nutrition permits too much food to form fat. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, combat that cause.
Their method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. Each box contains the formula, also the reasons for the good results. People have used Marmola for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. And the results have come without abnormal exercise or diet.
Why retain your excess fat when so many have ended theirs? Go try their method—try it now. Get Marmola, read the book in the box. Take four tablets daily, as directed, and watch the changes that occur. Do this in justice to yourself, to please your family and friends. You will be delighted.
Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

An easy way to overcome . . . Enlarged Pores and Blackheads

Are you shocked—and a trifle embarrassed—when a beauty expert tells you that enlarged pores are caused by dirt? Of course she does not imply that you fail to cleanse your skin often enough. She means that you do not cleanse it thoroughly—that modern life in dusty towns and cities calls for deep pore-cleansing that soap-and-water will not accomplish.
Plough's Cleansing Cream, made of light, non-absorbable oils offers a modern, easy way to cleanse the skin of all impurities which cause enlarged pores, blackheads and other blemishes. Pores which are thoroughly clear and free to breathe quickly contract to normal size; and regular use of this pure cream will keep the skin's texture smooth, clear and beautiful.
Tonight, before retiring, dip your fingers into the light, snowy softness of Plough's Cleansing Cream and smooth it generously on your skin. When you wipe it off, you will know that the beauty expert was right—and you will delight in the immaculate freshness and new beauty of complexion.
Plough's Cleansing Cream comes in three convenient sizes—30c, 50c and 75c. Plough's Beauty Creations, which also include Cold Cream, Vanishing Cream, Brilliantine, Skin Soap, Beauty Bleach, Rouge, Lipstick, Face Powder, etc., are available at all dealers, attractively packaged and sensibly priced.

He Talked, but He Could Deliver

A STORY OF LOVE AND LIFE IN HOLLYWOOD

BY SIDNEY BERSCHEL SMALL

INSTALLMENT 15

[illegible] John Andrew feared [illegible] never ask Anne [illegible] way, and said [illegible] "Hello" it seemed as [illegible] way and I [illegible] that Kel[illegible] lulled into [illegible] fiction.

[illegible]'s hand raised, and [illegible] the action was over he [illegible] it down in a clapping mo[illegible] engineer pushed a button, [illegible] the other units of the [illegible] that the machines [illegible] stopped. The musical [illegible] set were snapped off, making [illegible] seem to fall darkness for a [illegible] the hush outside sounded [illegible] great doors swung open, [illegible] men, trains of employees [illegible] from their posts like [illegible] and at once flicked [illegible] John Andrew crushed out a [illegible] started quickly to a passing [illegible] Anne sitting in a canvas [illegible] chair, made [illegible] — him. Just as she [illegible] she did [illegible] one called, "Playback."

[illegible] swung about the still [illegible] somberly. John Andrew [illegible] where he was.

[illegible] Inter the pinging of a [illegible] followed immediately [illegible] of a lock turning in a door, [illegible] hungry."

[illegible] and [illegible] produced [illegible] with singular lifelike quality [illegible] not yet by the actual sound, [illegible] was made on film the same as [illegible] and on which the [illegible] cinematographs would have to [illegible] but by a trick wire disc [illegible] separate record, made only [illegible] the director in knowing that [illegible] scene was satisfactory.

[illegible] drew heard the soft modulations [illegible]'s voice, the deep thrill of [illegible]'s passionate words of Chinese [illegible] after sampling of the liquor as [illegible] poured from the bottle. The [illegible] and engineers carefully [illegible] the dialogue lines, the result [illegible] of the voices, the appropriate [illegible] sound effects, and seemed [illegible] satisfied with what they were [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] in the "talking [illegible]" who alone had heard what the [illegible] had picked up, leaned [illegible] glass cured balcony, he also [illegible] a cigaret. He stared out over [illegible] and set below him calmly, but [illegible] his casual air he seemed to be [illegible] for something, for several times his lips moved into a brand [illegible] carefully erased.

The love scene, the great moment, [illegible] more tender. Slowly the [illegible] of Anne and Chester lowered [illegible] hard-breathed words; the [illegible] would widen her surrender, [illegible] lips, closed eyes, the man [illegible] to kiss her.

[illegible] sound burst into the studios [illegible] unearthly. Noise like the grating [illegible] steel on steel, followed by wind [illegible] through pipes, city, telephone [illegible] and then a curious clanging [illegible] the last sinking thirds of a [illegible] jangle.

The director leaned to his [illegible] "Stop!"

Not only the playback [illegible] record, everything in the room [illegible] silent.

"The sound systems and studios [illegible] people know," the [illegible] director [illegible], "but I never heard anything like that in all my [illegible] days. Director, what were you doing? Losing the reel up?"

While Anne fussed [illegible] her hair in mirth and pleasure, Chester said quietly, "I don't [illegible] my life.

"Neither did I," Anne said.

"A kiss like that," one of the [illegible] said, loudly enough to be heard, "is worth all the [illegible] it will in the [illegible].

"Pardon, dear, please," her [illegible] sniffed. "We [illegible] for [illegible], but—"

The puzzled director [illegible] "Just because you've been kissed, Miss Anne, before, doesn't say you should spoil this [illegible]! I don't care what you do off the set, but when I want love in silent kisses, we'll [illegible] that, or else—" [illegible] shrugged. The audience all laughed at [illegible] but Anne and Chester [illegible] something like a [illegible] on a [illegible] point. If——"

"I didn't touch her mouth, except the moment," Chester said [illegible]. "And I tell you I didn't make that noise, neither did Miss Anne——"

"There is some damn [illegible]" the director said, "I wish the things had never been invented——"

"Sure you do!" drifted down the [illegible] of the engineer from the [illegible] "You wish you were back in the good old candle days, studying your First Reader and thinking you were Abe Lincoln. . . . I didn't sing the notes because you followed good a lesson. How many times have we [illegible] you to bring pictures back? How many times have we asked that every one except the technical staff be excluded? As far as that goes, by most on with higher ratings, there many more we believe wasted all morning for a scene that wasn't shot until you are done with a lunch date?" With the electricians and technicians chiming up at him, he concluded, "This talkies and people, in the day of science, and maybe you think we won't cut it in! Now, Mr. Armstrong"—to the director—"do you want me to explain what that noise was?"

Armstrong glared at him, and then grinned weakly. "Sweet," he said.

"What you heard was Beetle, some one striking a match or cracking a light from one of those insect pickers; secondly, some one puffing away on a cigaret, and thirdly, some one whistling because he was [illegible] the girl, and nothing like either Anne or Anne. Now will you keep visitors out of the set?"

John Andrew leaned down at the director as the rest took up swiftly picked up cigarets in that moment the [illegible] and Anne.

She was [illegible], frowning at him, as if she sensed his guilt.

Armstrong, already [illegible] about the set, called for silence, and John Andrew's [illegible] cleared. He said to Anne, "Did you notice what did it, Miss Anne?"

"No!" Anne said softly. She looked [illegible] at John Andrew, and then [illegible] "I was so [illegible] I didn't think about anything else."

"Every one not in this company of the set!" Armstrong said. To the property man: "Take your visitor somewhere else, Bud." John Andrew's suggestion startled over to Armstrong, whispered a moment in his ear, and the director nodded more genially to Kellogg. "You see what we're up against, sir. Suppose you go upstairs and see the way the rushes are assembled."

John Andrew bowed and said as smartly as he could, "I wish a word or two with Miss Anne when it is convenient."

"We start the morning at 10. I'll [illegible] Miss Anne out to the front office."

John Andrew [illegible] to appear interested in the explanation of the [illegible] of the scene below. He was standing with his eyes on a red bulb on the panel which is flashed on, all the shots in which Anne sways into Chester's arms, gives herself into his embrace, although he could [illegible] see just what [illegible] which took place on the set below. John Andrew had always prided himself upon his [illegible] which, he [illegible] himself, was a kiss between [illegible] and [illegible]. Just the same, Anne wouldn't have [illegible] into the [illegible] so [illegible].

Some [illegible] he must show interest in the explanations which were being made. John Andrew thought out, "You [illegible] have this down to a fine point."

"We're a couple of [illegible] ahead of our other departments," a lanky engineer agreed. "We can give 'em anything they want, if they'd only find out what that is. They're some things which none of us understand."

"Bill's a nut on that," a second engineer put in, sitting on the edge of a table covered with expensive instruments. "He went to a hospital yesterday and stapled the wall of a three day old baby and this morning the kid's mother found it out, and wants a couple of hundred smacks for having her face in the pictures! It's a small life! The only nice part of it is that some of those flat-chested screen [illegible] who have been playing the devil with us common workmen—they think I [illegible] Bois Ker's the sign of a union—are having a grand time trying to talk like men before the mike. One way they're Fifth avenue; the other they're Tenth . . . by all, Bud"—to the publicity man, who was making warning gestures—"no here we don't play politics, and I think we'll lose our jobs by telling Mr. Kellogg what we think. . . ."

"You're perfectly safe," said John Andrew truthfully enough.

"Only thing we need's a soundless camera," the thin youngster said earnestly. "And even if the studs fallen down on that, we expect to have one—"

He paused as another of the men nudged him.
